

COMPANY PROFILE

EMT is specialised in developing and producing blending and bagging and transport equipment.

And is located in 't Zand, The Netherlands.

EMT has sold and transported over 500 machines to satisfied customers in over 71 countries. The high customer satisfaction is because every single one of these machines is adjusted and made according to customer requirements. EMT has a selling and service network through representatives in the whole of Europe. The machinery is adapted at the EMT facility for either the European or the worldwide market.

EMT has its own research and development centre where the engineers design new machines or adjust existing machines to customer demands by using a 3-D Cad system.

To comply with customer demands, EMT has got a lot of parts in stock, to assure the customer a quick delivery.

EMT is a family shareholder company owned by Gustaaf and Janco Zeeman. The Zeeman family has lived in North-Holland for over 200 years. The family company is established in 1913.

All machinery meet CE-requirements (Conformité Européenne), which applies to all European Union - and EVA countries.
